

MOUNT VERNON AVENUE

GROUND FOR THE GREAT HIGHWAY AMINED FROM ALEXANDRIA.

A Journey of Surprising Beautiful Pictures on Land and Water - 1 Road to Be Definitely Located Without Delay.

parting to the various committees appointed to carry forward the Mount Vernon Association met in Alexandria at 10 o'clock yesterday morning and drew up a plan to go over the Mount Vernon and took a view of the spot over the ground, with a view to erecting a monument to the memory of the party was composed of Mayor Snoots, Mr. W. H. F. Fox, Frederick Windsor, chairman of the committee on the subject; Jackson Sikes, engineer; Dr. C. C. Frank Reed, Frank Hume, James C. C. Ridley, and Messrs. Sam. H. and brother, Walton, Gillingham, and others. Mr. Snoots, after a short discussion, proposed that the monument be placed on the way down to Mount Vernon, and that the monument be placed on the suggestions as to the best route freely discussed. When the high point on the river was reached, the monument was discussed it was unanimously agreed that the base of the Potomac was one of the best places for the monument, and that with the adjacent country between the river and the river, with its white-sailed craft, spread out like a picture conjured up by the imagination. Mr. Snoots proposed the avenue should pass this point, and that the monument be erected there, so that the monument would be seen by the river at the same time. The best point of observation is about one hundred yards from the present road, but the ground is not high enough to see the monument.

tour could be easily and gracefully met as to include it.

At the first magnificent point of observation the party followed the old road for a short distance and then turned toward the more nearly the high road along the river. Mr. Hunter, one of the largest farmers in that region, where a few miles from the city, was on the right of Mount Vernon, and opposite Fort Washington, and the ground was a part of Washington's estate.

After leaving the Mount Vernon we reached, and after spending an hour there the return drive was made to Alexandria. It was not intended that any final conclusion should be reached yesterday as to the relocation of the great highway that has been proposed, but it will probably be announced very soon.

It is enough to say now that the gentlemen of the party were greatly pleased with the trip, and that they know where to go next time.

It is hoped that a good roadway can be opened all the way from Washington to Mount Vernon in a few weeks, by utilizing the existing roads. It is suggested that a road be built that will be a view of the beautiful scenery that it will command.

BOYCOTT IN COURT.

Judge Snell.
The counsel in the case of the must convicted and sentenced in the police for conspiracy growing out of the al boycott of the band leader, Krause pose to have a decision of the highest in the land upon their case, if it can b tained. In order to place the case line of appeal certain forms had to b served. James C. Callan, one of the defendants, was surrendered in the pri surety, at the suggestion of his counsel, Messrs. Charles S. Moore and J. H. R. The appeal was withdrawn, and, this morning the sentence of the police court, relative, Justice Montgomery ordered C into the custody of the marshal, as directed that the sentence be carried into effect. Subsequently his counsel filed a petition for writs of habeas corpus.

the petitioner, with others, was arrested on a warrant charging the crime of conspiracy, and his being taken to the court for trial. It was also stated that Sept. 24 he appeared and entered a that the judge holding the court denied demand for a trial by jury, and proceeded to hear the testimony, and that on Oct. 1 he was adjudged guilty of the matter out in said information and sentenced to pay a fine of $25, and in default of payment to thirty days' imprisonment in jail. He noted and perfected an appeal; that on the 10th of November, having withdrawn

$25, and having been surrendered to the surety, he was committed to the custody of the marshal to be imprisoned thirty days in jail. The petitioner further asserts that he is now in such custody and is unlawfully restrained of his liberty; that he been tried, as was his right, by a jury of twelve lawful men, nor was the penalty demanded by him submitted to any other. He contends that the penalty imposed by the police court is contrary to the law of the land, for it was not imposed upon grand jury. It is also maintained the police court had not jurisdiction to and determine the matters set out in information, nor was the said penalty imposed upon the verdict of a jury. He for a writ of habeas corpus that the length of the detention may be determined.

making it returnable forthwith, and minutes later Marshal Wilson filed his return. Justice Montgomery then called the matter to the court in general term to be heard in the first instance, and released the petitioner on $100 bail, Mr. Chris-and the counsel say that if the court banc should be against them they will it up to the highest judicial tribunal resting content. In the meantime the cases will await the decision in the on gone to the court in banc.

Sam Jones's Lecture.
On Tuesday evening, the 22d instar, Rev. Sam Jones will deliver his now characteristic lecture, entitled "There," in the Congregational Church.

centric chorister to listen to the treatment he is certain to give to the particular subject. One of Mr. Jones's virtues is terse and pungent utterance and the title of his lecture indicates he does not propose to deviate from the usual view on public health attained by charge, may be obtained at Ellis's store, No. 937 Pennsylvania avenue.

Political Complexion of the House
The next House of Representatives

The Weather.

Thermometer readings: 7 a. m., 47.0°; 10 p. m., 48.0°; mean temp.

relative humidity, 19.6%; total precipitation, .09 inches.